Perhaps the perfect children's bedtime book, Goodnight Moon is a short poem of goodnight wishes from a young rabbit preparing for--or attempting to postpone--his own slumber. He says goodnight to every object in sight and within earshot, including the "quiet old lady whispering hush." Clement Hurd's illustrations are simple and effective, alternating between small ink drawings and wide, brightly colored views of the little rabbit's room. Two runaway women, a mother and daughter who had fled from a slave farm in Thrace, reached the Amazon colony via the secret two-vine route. They told of happenings in the outside world, including a report that Amazon warriors had massacred a Greek patrol near the Hellespont, part of the channel linking the Aegean and Black seas. The village buzzed. Our warriors had conducted no such raid. Evidently a different band of Amazons existed.
