This ongoing work made creating the Third Edition of Evolution: Making Sense of Life an especially enjoyable experience for us. News of the Bornean cave art came to light too late to appear in the second edition of this textbook, published in 2016. But we've added that study to the Third Edition, along with dozens of others on a range of evolutionary topics that have come out over the past few years. Throughout Evolution, we present stories about evolutionary biologists and how they've advanced our understanding of the history of life. We recount how these scientists set out to test hypotheses, how they developed experiments or went in search of fossils, and how they interpreted their results. In telling these stories, we demonstrate the integrative nature of evolution. Evolution: Making Sense of Life has been added to your Cart. Add to Cart. Buy Now.
