

Worm's Eye View: A Comedy in Three Acts; Ronald Frederick Delderfield; Samuel French, 1948; 1948

See what's new with book lending at the Internet Archive. The camel through the needle's eye : a comedy in three acts. Item Preview. remove-circle. IN COLLECTIONS. Books to Borrow. Books for People with Print Disabilities. Internet Archive Books. Uploaded by station04.cebu on January 20, 2020. William Somerset Maugham CÅsar's Wife: A Comedy in Three Acts. CHARACTERS. Sir Arthur Little, K.C.B., K.C.M.G. I was dreadfully self-conscious; I felt that everybody's eyes were upon me. And you don't know how easy it is to make mistakes in a country that's half Eastern and half European. Anne. I thought you only read of romance in books; I didn't know there was a country where it sat by the side of a well under the palm-trees, as though it were at home. Osman Pasha. Vous Åtes charmante, madame. Worm's Eye View is a 1951 British, Technicolor, comedy film, directed by Jack Raymond and starring Ronald Shiner as Sam Porter and Diana Dors as Thelma.[2] Based on the successful play of the same name by R.F. Delderfield, it was produced by Henry Halsted and Byron Film. Reception. TV Guide wrote, "some mild amusement is to be found here, particularly in the dialogue, though all in all this is nothing special.