ABSTRACT. The mechanical interaction between a glacier and subglacial sediment can be observed using an instrumented rod that we refer to as the UBC ploughmeter. For clastic sediments, the rate of collision between clasts and a rod dragged through these sediments should be related to the glacier sliding rate. The jagged appearance of the force record (Fig. 2a) and the lack of a non-apparent correlation between the records of down-flow and cross-flow force components (Fig. 3) suggest that ploughmeter 91PL02 is interacting with a clastic area of the glacier bed. A United Nations General Assembly Resolution is a decision or declaration voted on by all member states of the United Nations in the General Assembly. General Assembly resolutions usually require a simple majority (50 percent of all votes plus one) to pass. However, if the General Assembly determines that the issue is an "important question" by a simple majority vote, then a two-thirds majority is required; "important questions" are those that deal significantly with the maintenance of international law.

Delegates writing resolutions. One of the most common questions I get from newer delegates and teachers is how to write a resolution. A resolution contains all the proposed solutions to a topic. Learning to write a resolution is very important because the ultimate goal of the committee sessions is for delegates to come up with written solutions to the problems they are trying to solve.
