SYLLABUS

I. COURSE OBJECTIVES:

General: In light of Gordon-Conwell’s mission “to prepare men and women for ministry at home and abroad,” this course aims to prepare and equip students with life-long learning skills, to enable them to do research relevant to ministry, and to enable them to write and communicate their learning effectively.

A. Improving Organizing and Thinking Skills: (Seminary goals: M.Div. 3,4,6; MAT,3)

1. Improving note taking abilities;
2. Developing organizing and outlining abilities for writing and ministry
3. Improving reasoning and critical thinking skills for writing (M.A.,4)
4. Learning how to combine previous and new learning methods (M.A.R.,3)
5. Acquiring a Christian worldview (M.Div., 6)

B. Discovering and applying practical research methods and sources: (M.Div.3,4,5,6)

1. Learning how to find useful sources of information
2. Applying research methods to understand the urban community
3. Applying research methods to understand the urban church/ministry

C. Developing the ability to use libraries and information sources effectively
(Seminary goals -M.A. Bib., 3;M.A.O.T & M.A.N.T.- 4; M.Div. 1,2,4)

1. Becoming familiar with local library resources
2. Understanding library systems, resources, and on-line catalogs
3. Understanding computer based information sources
4. Understanding seminary electronic systems, communications, and scheduling
5. Becoming aware of useful reference tools, both general, biblical, and theological

D. Improving basic writing skills:

(Seminary goals -M.A. Bib., 3;M.A.O.T & M.A.N.T.- 4; M.Div., 4)

1. Being able to correctly cite sources in footnotes and bibliographies
2. Being able to develop paragraphs effectively with unity and coherence
3. Writing sentences with improved style and clarity and increased variety
4. Sharpening present grammatical usage

II. COURSE REQUIREMENTS:

General: The central assignment of this course is simply to research and write an academic paper. Various parts of this paper are submitted in rough draft form to allow feedback from professors for revision and improvement.

A. ATTENDANCE:

Class participation is an important aspect of the course; therefore, students are expected to attend each class session. In order to receive full credit for the course, no more than three (3) absences can be allowed. Half-class attendance and absences will be counted (as ½). In case of class cancellation, Nov. 11th may be used.

B. REQUIRED READING:

1. Nancy J. Vyhmeister, *Quality Research Papers for Students of Religion and Theology. 3rd ed. Grand Rapids, Mich.: Zondervan, 2014. $10 - $20. ISBN number: 978-0-310-51402-2 (See reading report for assigned readings)
2. Wayne C. Booth, Gregory G. Colomb, and Joseph M. Williams, *The Craft of Research, 3rd ed. Chicago: Univ. of Chicago Press, 2008. ISBN number: 978-0-226-06566-3 (See reading report for assigned readings) $5- $17
3. Rudy Mitchell, *Biblical Research Tools and Methods. Boston: N.P., 2014. (No ISBN number) $5.00 (Available at CUME)
4. Read material in the binder of photocopied articles and excerpts for the course. Available at the CUME Library. Or read 100 pages on course topics and submit a report. See reading report forms for details

 Hand in Reading Reports of what you have read. These will list all reading assignments by class. The dates they are due are as follows:

FIRST HALF REPORT – March 9

SECOND HALF REPORT – April 27

C. Worksheets & Quizzes – Three take-home exercises need to be completed.

1. Library / Reference Tools Quiz - Due February 23
2. Footnote quiz / Worksheet - Due March 2
3. Grammar Worksheets: Reference material & exercises –Due March 30
(Will be accepted through Apr. 27)

A working knowledge of English grammar is an important component of writing. Though useful and desirable, it is not possible for this course to adequately provide a comprehensive review of grammar. We will cover the most common problem areas. However, since each person has his or her own individual strengths and weaknesses, to attempt to cover all aspects of grammar typically helps some, while it bores others. We are not so much concerned that you know all the particular names of the rules, but rather that your usage of standard English grammar improves, resulting in more effective writing. We will review your worksheets and make suggestions for further learning. See also the bibliography for recommended reading on grammar & writing.

Student Academic Conduct

The submission of the same (or substantially the same) work for credit in two or more courses without the knowledge and consent of the instructors is not allowed. Students are responsible for understanding and abiding by the school's policy on plagiarism. Information will be provided.

D. WRITE A 10 PAGE RESEARCH PAPER:

The preliminary assignments (#1-4) are designed to help build toward the end goal of completing the 10 page research paper. It is important that you complete each preliminary assignment on time.

1. Submit the TOPIC Report Form for your paper. DUE Feb. 2
(Select & describe a topic you will write your paper about)

Note: If you change your topic, submit in writing your new topic & obtain approval for it.

2. Submit a PRELIMINARY BIBLIOGRAPHY of 10 to 25 works, that apply to your topic and could be of possible use to you. (Hint: Try to look at the sources & select at least ten whose content is best for your topic.)

DUE March 2

3. Submit a PRELIMINARY OUTLINE of your paper. This can be revised later and improved for inclusion in the rough draft and final paper.

DUE March 16

4. Submit a photocopy of your FIRST DRAFT OF THE PAPER. Include footnotes, bibliography and outline page. Be sure to make a backup copy of your paper. This will enable you to continue working on your final version while we correct your first draft. Double space your paper.

DUE: April 13

5. Submit the FINAL DRAFT of your ten page Research Paper. The paper must be typed. It should be approximately 2500 words, minimum. In typed form with double spacing and one inch margins, this should come to about 10 pages of written text. In summary, your paper :

*Should be typed with double spacing, one inch margins, 10-12 point font

*Should be 10 pages / 2500 words (10 or more, but less than 25 pp.)

*Should be a Research type paper (topic approved by us)

*Should include Title Page, Outline page, Footnotes or Endnotes,
and Bibliography

*Pages should be numbered beginning with the first page of text.

DUE April 27

6. Give an ORAL PRESENTATION of the findings of your research paper
A short (five minute) presentation of your paper's thesis, summary of what you have researched (your findings/conclusions), and the implications / significance of your research.

DUE April 27

IV. GRADE COMPUTATION:

Although the grades are carefully detailed according to the breakdown below, there is considerable flexibility for those of different abilities and experience. Significant credit is given for improvement. Promptness in handing in papers is more important in this course than in some courses because we want to give you feedback early enough so that you can have a chance to improve and revise your work under our guidance. The preliminary bibliography and outline must be completed before the rough draft to receive credit. The course also seeks to help you in planning the steps in doing a paper according to a timely schedule. To receive an "A" you need to carefully fulfill the promptness, attendance, and report requirements and not merely submit a good final paper.

Gordon-Conwell Theological Seminary Doctor of Ministry Thesis-Project Abstract: Around one third of the Hebrew Old Testament is written in poetic form, yet apart from using a poetic layout, major Bible translations generally do not translate these materials poetically. This thesis-project examines the biblical-theological foundations for translating biblical Hebrew poetry as poetry, and argues that doing so could help carry over much of the impact and poetic beauty of the original into the Topics: GCTS, DMin, Thesis, Translating and interpreting, Hebrew poetry, Biblical Translating.
